Our Cover Girl

The State of Arizona was proudly represented by Apryl Darlyn Hettich at the 1993 Miss U.S.A. Pageant held in Wichita, Kansas. Televised locally, the competition included a costume portion where Apryl proudly wore an authentic Native American Indian Jingle Dress.

Twenty-six-year-old Apryl was born in New Brunswick, New Jersey, grew up in Salt Lake City, Utah and has lived in Arizona for seven years. The youngest of eleven children (six brothers and four sisters), Apryl speaks fondly of her Comanche Indian ancestry. Her great-grandmother was in the Trail of Tears, the infamous movement of Indians from Texas to the West. Her uncle, age 77, is the well-known Indian artist, Leonard Riddles, also known as Black Moon, of Oklahoma.

Having the "acting bug" all of her life, Apryl has worked as a model, actress, and corporate spokesperson. She plays the flute and piano, sings, enjoys popular dancing, and with her love of sports, has the ability to hit nine out of ten 90 m.p.h. baseballs at the batting cage!

Apryl's future goal is to futher her acting abilities and obtain work in movies, commercials, modeling and other related fields. She hopes someday to have a healthy balance between both family and career. Her belief is that since society has changed from the 1950's and women are not only expected but want to have careers, the difficulty of achieving career goals and having a family has become a major problem for women today.

A very caring and attractive individual who demonstrates an inner beauty as well, when asked, "What do you think your greatest contribution to the world would be?" Apryl replied, "I feel my greatest contribution would be to help people, no matter what age, realize their self-worth, set goals for themselves, and to realize that dreams really do come true."

Look for Apryl Hettich in a nationally-broadcasted infomercial for Perfume House Sabbia, and in an upcoming movie, Nine Hours to Yuma. ❁
